

dynamic membrane formation

Process in which an active layer is formed on the membrane surface by the deposition of substances contained in the fluid being treated.

Source:

PAC, 1996, 68, 1479 (Terminology for membranes and membrane processes (IUPAC Recommendations 1996)) on page 1482