

enzyme induction

in medicinal chemistry

Process whereby an enzyme is synthesised in response to the presence of a specific substance or to other agents such as heat or a metal.

See also: enzyme induction (in general chemistry)

Source:

PAC, 2004, 76, 1033 (Glossary of terms used in toxicokinetics (IUPAC Recommendations 2003)) on page 1051