

sedimentation velocity method

A method by which the velocity of motion of solute component(s) or dispersed particles is measured and the result is expressed in terms of its (their) sedimentation coefficient(s).

Source:

Purple Book, p. 62